Maps were a popular gift item this past year, and one of the steady favourites was the 1920s map showing Peterborough industries in red and leading institutions in black, of which this image captures that part closest to the downtown. We have several maps that are available for purchase. Just drop in and have a chat.

We also have books for sale, and past issues of the Heritage Gazette of the Trent Valley (if not out of print).

The Trent Valley Archives is a full service archives. In addition to our extensive archival collection we have an impressive library, including over 3,000 books catalogued and thousands more listed in the pertinent collections. Much of our holdings are accessible through our in-house computers which have lists of our holdings and finding aids to many of our 800 fonds. We are also partners with Ancestry. We welcome visitors at all times and many become members when they see how much we have to offer.

We have an in-house book store that contains hundreds of titles including such new books as the two featured on this page.

Trent Valley Archives has also published several books and these, too, are available for purchase.

The sale of local books and newly released books has been an important source of revenue for Trent Valley Archives. Think of us when looking for a special title or for a gift.

The Peterboro Shoe

A researcher brought in "The Peterboro Shoe" and wondered if we could provide any context. There were many shoe stores in Peterborough, but we had no information on this label. Any suggestions are welcome. Elwood@trentvalleyarchives.com
